South Shore Partners in Prevention Launches Website and Facebook Page

Plymouth, MA -- South Shore Community Partners in Prevention (SSCPP) recently launched a website and a Facebook page as part of its efforts to reach out to the communities it serves. The goal of the website is to serve as a health resource. Along with local health resources, the website will have specific health information about South Shore communities as well as the latest updates on exciting SSCPP projects designed to improve community health in our service area. Residents interested in funding opportunities will also find information about the SSCPP grant process on the website (www.chna23.org).

SSCPP also started a Facebook page to stay connected to folks interested in community health in the South Shore/Plymouth area. "It's a great avenue for SSCPP members and the community to interact on the latest health topics and concerns", says Michael Jackman, District Director for Congressman Bill Keating and a member of the SSCPP Steering Committee. SSCPP will use Facebook to update the community on its Health Literacy Project as well as articles of interest relevant to the SSCPP mission of improving local health through collaborative projects and activities. Interested residents can find the Facebook page at www.facebook.com/chna23.

Health emergency preparedness, the Affordable Care Act and the state of health literacy have been recent topics of concern for SSCPP and we are looking for your input. SSCPP encourages anyone interested in health literacy and that lives or works in the 11 towns we serve to contact the SSCPP coordinator at chna23@gmail.org for more information on future meetings.
